DETAILED ACTION

1. Applicant cancelled claims 2, 11 and 12.
2. Claims 1, 3-10 and 13-24 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Iguchi, US 5,745,705.

Iguchi discloses a point-of-sale (POS) system, e.g. Fig. 1A, a host unit, e.g. 2, data communication lines, e.g. 3, communicating with a server, e.g. 7, and POS registers 1. Iguchi discloses the execution of processes may occur at the host unit and the existence of a bank related system and credit related system, e.g. col. 7. Iguchi specifically articulates the term maintenance control block 7, but does not indicate the POS terminal unit may not have execution programs. It is noted that voice activated POS systems and maintenance systems within a POS system having "dumb" terminals are common knowledge within the POS art. To have provided a voice activated POS system and a maintenance unit and a POS terminal unit not having execution programs for Iguchi would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art. Doing such would provide common knowledge prior art operating systems used with POS systems.

Applicant's December 3, 2004 REMARKS have been reviewed, but are not convincing. Applicant does not contest the fact that the noted common knowledge is not accurate. Instead Applicant argues that the Examiner has not provided a reference to support such an assertion. Thus, Applicant concedes the common knowledge. However, Applicant does question the use of such common knowledge.

As requested by Applicant, Prorock, US 6,754,704 evidences further support for such use of common knowledge in a POS system. Prorock discloses, e.g. Fig. 1, terminals 28a, 28b, that may have an execution terminal or may be a "dumb" terminal. The Examiner maintains the position that one of ordinary skill in the art would have been appraised of this common knowledge. To have implemented such for Iguchi would have been obvious for one of ordinary skill in the art.

3. Further pertinent references of interest are noted on the attached PTO-892.

Conclusion

4. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
